Lesson Overview: When the Queen Goes Out, I Like to... - Students will write and illustrate their response using oil pastels. Students will be asked questions about the color wheel, color mixing, and complementary colors and the way that they are used in Sheila Miles’ work. This lesson will incorporate writing and art.

Grade Level: 4th Grade

Subject(s): Visual Arts, Writing

Duration: Two 45 minute sessions (includes 15 to 20 minutes for viewing the artwork)

Learning Objectives: Students will be able to -
- Mix oil pastels using layered color.
- Write and illustrate a narrative story to create narrative art
- Identify complementary colors.

Questions for Viewing: First, always take a few moments to really look at the artwork.

VTS Questions
- What do you think is going on in this picture?
- What do you see that makes you say that?
- What else do you see in this picture?

Additional Questions
- If you could take two steps inside this painting, what do you think happens next?
- What are complementary colors?
  - Where do you see them in the painting?
- What would YOU do when the queen goes out?

Art Vocabulary:
- Complementary Colors: Pairs of colors that are opposite each other on the color wheel. When placed next to each other, they create the strongest contrast for those two colors.
- Narrative Art: Art that tells a story.

Materials:
- Pencil
- Paper 9” x 12” Thicker multimedia paper works best or colored construction paper.
- Oil pastels (Class pack Crayola oil pastels https://www.discountschoolsupply.com/arts-crafts/crayons-markers chalk/oil pastels/crayola-oil pastels classpack---set-of-336/p/16060)

Setting up your classroom for oil pastels:
- Cover the tables with news print or large paper from rolls, oil pastels can be messy
- Remind the students that oil pastels will stain clothes and carpeted floors. Have them wear art shirts or aprons to protect clothing.
- If using a class pack, divide up the oil pastels into sets of colors. Students can share a set if need be.
- Oil pastels are easiest to clean off of hands with dish soap.
Procedure:

- Begin by taking a long moment to really look at the artwork, then discuss the viewing questions for Sheila Miles painting When the Queen Goes Out, I like to Soak My Feet, using Visual Thinking Strategies (VTS).
- Give the students the following prompt and have them write a short response. When the Queen goes out, I like to __________...
  - What will they do when the Queen goes out, and Why? How would they represent themselves? Sheila Miles represented herself as a monkey.
- Once they have written their response, they will illustrate what they wrote. Their drawing should include...
  - Who are the characters?
  - Where are they?
  - What are they doing?
- The students can draw out their illustration using a pencil first. Then add color using oil pastel.
- Students should use sets of complementary colors next to each other in their drawing to create contrast (blue/orange, red/green, purple/yellow).
- Oil pastel quick tips (See Video) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qQOt2pcb7wo&list=PLKPKDKB2xRuy3eglvvm4Nt_13d8PUGf0fT&index=10
  - Oil pastel can be smudged using your finger
  - Oil pastels can also be layered on top of one another to create new colors, kind of like mixing paint
  - Using a pencil, students can scratch through oil pastels to create detail or texture (sgraffito).
  - Once they have finished, have the students title their work!
